City Attorney Larry Egan got to give a statement. I got on the phone with Larry Egan and told him that even if I did not get a written statement from Sgt. Wright, I could subpoena him and serve his testimony on the witness stand. Mr. Egan told me to get a cup of coffee for a couple of minutes because he wanted to talk to Sgt. Wright. When I returned to Sgt. Wright, he got me on the phone again with Larry Egan. Mr. Egan informed me that it would be permissible for me to take a written statement from Sgt. Wright but that he wanted to be present with Sgt. Bartoche. I agreed to this and it was decided that the statement would be taken at the City Attorney's office as soon as we arrived. When I got off the phone with Mr. Egan, I started discussing the door jamb incident and related to me what he had told me the previous night about there being a bullet in the hole and it definitely being removed, whereupon he retreated from his statement to me over the telephone and said that it looked like a bullet in the hole and that he assumed that someone removed the subject from the hole. I told him that this unquestionably was not what he told me over the phone and that it was my distinct belief that he had retreated from his original statement to me. I told him that if that was going to be his written statement, it would not serve any purpose for me to serve a written statement from him and that we would proceed by way of a subpoena and would secure his testimony in court on this issue. I called my office, had a subpoena prepared and it was delivered to me shortly thereafter, at which time I proceeded to serve Sgt. Wright with the subpoena.

While the subject was enroute to the Police Department, I called Larry Egan and told him that I had decided that since Sgt. Wright had changed his version of the door jamb incident, there was no need for the subject's written statement and the meeting at the City Attorney's Office was called off.
